

DRUG INVESTIGATIONS FOR PATROL OFFICERS

Course Objective: Narcotic investigations can be the most dangerous type of investigation that a uniform officer might encounter in the performance of his/her duties. The officers attending this class will not only gain a complete awareness of the drugs facing them today, but they will acquire the expertise needed to make quality observations and sound judgments in determining drug use. Officers will be better equipped to identify drug distribution and smuggling not only in roadside situations but in the community that they patrol. The officer safety issues learned in this seminar will not only benefit the officers attending the seminar but the members of their community as well.

Course Topics Include:

- Drug identification
- Search and Seizure
- Use of Informants
- Officers safety is stressed through this class
- Drug Packaging
- Knocks and Talks
- Testifying in Court on Drug cases
