

How to Teach about the Middle East - and Get it Right!

Spring Webinar Series

You're invited! Join us for five interactive sessions between January and May 2021, featuring resources and strategies for teaching about the Middle East relevant to both in-person and virtual teaching for Grades 6-12 and community colleges. REGISTER: <http://go.unc.edu/teachMENA>

- + January 28: Islam Through Art, Dr. Christiane Gruber
- + February 25: Teaching Middle East History in World History, Dr. Allen Fromherz
- + March 18: Experiential Learning about the Middle East through the Senses, Barbara Petzen
- + April 22: Teaching about the Middle East through Underreported Stories, Pulitzer Center on Crisis Reporting
- + May 20: Hip Hop and Women's Voices in the Middle East and North Africa, Dr. Angela Williams

All events occur on Thursdays, 5:00 - 6:30 p.m. Eastern Time

Free | Earn Professional Development Hours, and State Continuing Education Clock Hours (SCECHs) for Michigan Teachers! REGISTER: <http://go.unc.edu/teachMENA>

This program is a collaboration between the National Resource Centers dedicated to Middle East Studies at Duke University-The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and at the University of Michigan-Ann Arbor.

How to Teach about the Middle East - and Get it Right!

Spring 2021 Webinar Series for Educators Grades 6-14
All events Thursday, 5:00 - 6:30 p.m. Eastern Time

JANUARY
28

ISLAM THROUGH ART

FEBRUARY
25

TEACHING MIDDLE EAST HISTORY IN WORLD HISTORY

MARCH 18

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING ABOUT
THE MIDDLE EAST THROUGH THE SENSES

APRIL 22

TEACHING ABOUT THE MIDDLE EAST
THROUGH UNDERREPORTED
STORIES

MAY 20

HIP HOP AND WOMEN'S VOICES IN
THE MIDDLE EAST AND NORTH AFRICA

Register:
go.unc.edu/teachMENA

 | LSA CENTER FOR
MIDDLE EASTERN & NORTH AFRICAN STUDIES
UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

 DUK
UNIVERSITY

MIDDLE EAST STUDIES
Center

UNC CENTER FOR
MIDDLE EAST &
ISLAMIC STUDIES